CONDITIONS IN EAST GERMANY

Several Army Corps Withdrawn and Sent Back to France.

BLOODIEST OF WARS.

Austrians Said to Have Lost Quarter of Million Men in Killed and Wounded Recently.

Petrograd, Sept. 17.—Several German army corps, withdrawn from the western lines with the intention of re-enforcing the forces resisting the Russian advance in East Prussia, are returning to France, according to reports here today.

The best information here is that the Germans realizing the futility of the withdrawal of vast bodies of troops from France to check General Rennenkampf's advance, are now returning the troops.

It is declared here that the German general staff must have realized that the troops withdrawn from the west must have remained inactive in East Prussia for an extended period while they are badly needed in France.

Petrograd, Sept. 17.—A summary of the recent fighting in Galicia, field of probably the bloodiest conflict of the war so far has been given out semi-officially from the Russian standpoint. It states that Russian troops are pursuing the Austrians with energy, and the defeat of the enemy continues. Certain Austrian army corps have been virtually annihilated. Russian forces have passed the river San. The Eastern Russian advance guard is approaching Przemyśl. The reports with which military operations are being conducted has made it impossible to determine accurately the losses of the enemy, but it may be said that they are becoming colossal.

According to such information as has come to hand the Austrians have lost in the neighborhood of 250,000 men in killed and wounded, this in addition to 100,000 prisoners, 400 pieces of ordnance and a number of standards. In all directions the roads are crowded with artillery, transport wagons and arms and ammunition which have been abandoned in mass during the precipitate retreat of the enemy.

The desperate efforts of German troops to save the Austrian army from utter rout should be recorded, it is declared. The active participation of German army corps in the fighting has been revealed at several different places along the Austrian front, as, for instance, at Tourobine. The Russians captured 36 pieces of long-range German artillery, in addition to some 5000 German prisoners at this point. At other places on the front several dozen large German guns, many of which had been prevented by lack of time from being used in the fighting, fell into their hands.

In conclusion this announcement of Russian successes declares that the success by Germany did not save the Austrians and that the heavy defeat inflicted upon the Germans has contributed to the brilliancy of the Russian victories.

URGES GERMANS TO BE CALM

Berlin, via Rotterdam and London, September 17.—A military critic in a Berlin paper says:

"We must accept the news from French sources concerning the retreat of the Germans with calmness and not imagine that the French already are before Berlin."

NEWS OF THE DAY

A South American who has arrived in Madrid from Berlin, describing conditions in the German capital, says: "Thousands are begging bread in the streets. Berlin is like a cemetery by day and night. There has been feverish activity in the work of constructing intrenchments around the city. In one week alone 150 trainloads of wounded entered Berlin. Prominent politicians confess that Germany cannot get out of the awful conflict with success."

The President yesterday replied to the message recently received from Emperor William protesting against the alleged use by the allied armies of dum-dum bullets. He said he had read the communication with the gravest concern, but that it would be unwise and premature for the United States to express any final judgment in the controversy. The message was almost identical with the speech made by the President to the Belgian commission, which protested against alleged German atrocities.

The Serbian column that crossed the Save of Obrenovac on its march to attack Semlin from the north encountered two Austrian regiments, composed of Slav troops. These instead of offering resistance went over to the Serbians and helped them in taking Semlin.

Thomas H. L. Swenson, of Washington, has received a letter from a friend in his home, at Hull, England, in which some news has escaped the censor. Notwithstanding newspaper denials the letter says 250,000 Russian troops have landed in England and were sent to Edinburgh along with thousands of British marines.

A tropical storm, now centered off the east Florida coast is expected to spread rapidly northward, making shipping hazardous along the entire South Atlantic seaboard, according to a warning issued by the weather bureau. "The storm will undoubtedly increase in intensity as it moves northward," says the statement, "and it is expected that it will strike along the Atlantic coast northward to the Virginia capes during the next twenty-four hours. Warning of these dangerous conditions has been sent to shipping along the gulf and are displayed at Atlantic ports from Key West to Norfolk."

The London Times Paris correspondent telegraphs: "Terrible stories are reaching the French capital of the piles of dead and wounded which in the battlefields along the Marne. At one place the Germans built a barrier 6 feet high of dead, behind which to resist the French charges. This barrier finally was carried, after a bloody struggle, by the Turks, and a horrible litter of 7,000 bodies now marks this spot."

The United States government has refused to accept Turkey's announcement that after October 1 the capitulations upon which rest all the rights and privileges of Americans and other foreigners in Turkey no longer will be in effect.

Weldon B. Cooke, aviator, was killed in a plunge of 2,000 feet in his airplane while giving an exhibition flight over the state fair grounds at Pueblo, Col., yesterday. Cooke's home was at Sandusky, O. An air pocket was believed to be responsible for the accident.

TO HAND $1,000,000 TO MEXICO.

U. S. Ready With Accounting for Vera Cruz Customs.

Washington Sept. 17.—As a result of American administration of the Vera Cruz customs office, the Carranza government will receive a cash balance of more than $1,000,000.

General Huerta had pledged the customs receipts as security for a loan obtained in France, but officials here take the view today that the United States should turn the money over to the Government in Mexico City, leaving it to that authority to determine its disposition.

The gross customs receipts to August 29 were $1,800,000, from which was deducted about $900,000 for customs administration and the maintenance of quarantine, light houses, pilot house service and part of the postal service.

BATTLE CONTINUES ON RIVER AISNE

Believed Germans Will Withdraw to Another Base Shortly.

FAIL TO GAIN GROUND

French Minister of War Declares Allies are Winning Decisive Victory in Third Engagement.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Despite the fact that the fighting continued along the line of the river Aisne today with, according to military headquarters here, little change from yesterday, it is believed certain the Germans will withdraw to a new base, probably the line of the Meuse.

Officials here explain that the German counter-attacks have failed to gain ground. The stiffening of their resistance was due, it is stated, to the flattening out of the lines of the allies, but at no point has the German attack been comparable with that which marked their initial advance.

Minister of War Millerand today declared that the allies are winning a decisive victory in this, the third great battle of the war.

General Von Kluck is reported to be withdrawing his lines closer to those of General Von Buelow, which were in turn drawing in on the main German center. This movement followed the attempt of the allies to flank the German right perpendicularly extended west to Noyon. The French troops have admittedly failed in their attempt to break through Von Kluck's lines and isolate him and they are now engaged in a front attack along the entire line.

The losses of the allies have been far heavier in the last two days than at any other period of the war. The German counter-assaults have been determined and have required frequent use of the bayonet in checking them. But it has been in the general assaults that the French have lost heaviest.

The German artillery fire continues particularly deadly. Their batteries, masked in the hills, which for the most part constitute their new positions, are served with the utmost precision, with their rapid firers, mounted on automobiles, simply mow down the French who attempt to carry the German lines by storm.

It is stated, however, by General Gallieni that all of the reports reaching him show the French spirit was never better, and he adds significantly that the losses of the French, who fight in open order, cannot in any way be compared with those of the Germans in their original advance on Paris.

The rainy weather and muddy roads coupled with the need of bringing up better bridging materials from the rear, so that the artillery can be brought across the streams, has retarded some of the main French operations, but reports today indicated this condition had now been remedied.

General fighting is in progress all along the line.

BUSTS DAD'S HAT; JAILED

Curfew on Straws is No Defense in Boston Court.

Boston, Sept. 17.—"I came home with a straw hat on, said Michael Whitty, testifying against his son George, in a South Boston Court yesterday. "George was there, and he said: 'Didn't you hear the bell? Straw hats have gone out. I told him it was none of his business and he busted my hat and mugged me up.'"

"One month for assault," said the Judge. "Another month for drunkenness and three months for being idle and disorderly. That is five months in all."

BET LAST CENT ON ROULETTE

American Refugee in London Financed by Lucky Turn of Wheel.

A San Francisco real estate firm has received a letter from a client, now in London, telling how he replenished his purse by risking his last coin at roulette, when his appeals home for money were fruitless on account of conditions following the breaking out of hostilities in Europe. He was in Ostend when actual fighting began, and had been traveling in Europe for some months. For obvious reasons his name is withheld. The letter says, in part:

"We had made Ostend our objective point, considering it the most favorable point for awaiting developments. The morning after our arrival there a complete paralysis of the financial situation established itself, nothing available had any circulating value; checks, letters of credit, the American Express Company or travelers' checks, or even Belgian paper money, all shared the same fate. That evening our limited capital consisted of 8 francs in my pocket. Of course I had depended upon my letters of credit."

"We went silence walking down the ocean shore. Both myself and wife wondered where we would go next, and what would become of us, when we came upon a brilliant lighted Kursaal. It occurred to us we might correct our fortune by staking it all upon the roulette wheel. At the most it couldn't render our lot any worse than it was. To our horror, however, the inscription, '5 francs entree,' confronted our eyes. That would leave us but 3 francs in our pocket. Once again the situation was saved by my wife. From the bottom of her hand satchel she produced a 5 franc piece, which she had laid away during the fat years, looking forward to contingencies. So in we marched, and, after having got on to the arithmetic of the gambling table, we selected No. 28 to design our fate."

"The wheel whirled round and round, and it became black before our eyes, but in our ears it sounded like poetry, and when it stopped I hadn't hands enough to gather the money. My number had won, and they paid me 35 for one. Remembering it was easier to make money than to keep it, we proved ourselves worthy of the hour by withdrawing from the ring, and sought our exit, feeling once again we were able to take care of ourselves for a day or two."

TRANSFER OF DISPUTE

London, Sept. 17.—The foreign office issued last night a dispatch from Sir Maurice de Bunsen, lately British Ambassador at Vienna, to Sir Edward Grey in respect to the rupture of diplomatic relations with the Austro-Hungarian government and tracing the course of the negotiations.

The Ambassador shows that the tension between Russia and Germany was much greater than between Russia and Austria. Austria, in fact, had finally yielded, when unfortunately the conversations between St. Petersburg and Vienna were cut short by the transfer of the dispute to the more dangerous ground of direct conflict between Germany and Russia. Germany intervened on July 31 by her double ultimatums to St. Petersburg and Paris.

A few days delay might in all probability have saved Europe from one of the greatest calamities in history.

Depression in Berlin

Berlin, Sept. 17.—(Delayed).—In stead of the exultation that marked the capital during the first days of the war there have been during the last few days widespread evidence of depression that is constantly growing. Berlin today, not only among officials and the aristocracy in general, but it has also spread among the people everywhere.

Berlin also is beginning to receive seemingly authentic reports of a disturbing nature from the outlying districts, where it is said that "marked separatist movements are gaining momentum. Word of these movements is coming in, not from a particular section of the empire, but from the states in general, especially from Bavaria, Wurttemberg and Saxony."

ITALY ANXIOUS TO PARTICIPATE

Strong Pressure Still Brought on Government to Declare War

BIG CROWDS GATHER.

Changes in Cabinet Said to be Pending, and Country Will Not Maintain its Neutral Stand.

Rome, Sept. 17.—Strong forces of troops are held in reserve not alone in Rome, but in nearly all the larger Italian cities to quell spreading anti-neutrality demonstrations. There seems to be a general concerted movement, the source of which remains hidden, to force the hand of the government, make it repudiate its treaty obligations and join the allies.

The government, up to the present, has refused to be impressed with the agitation, and has constantly insisted that the original proclamation of neutrality is to be rigidly adhered to. However, there are extremely strong rumors that changes in the cabinet are impending, and if they come it is expected the government will be forced to take definite action.

Newspapers today print stories declaring the Italian military attaché at Berlin has left there, after vigorously objecting to severe criticism of Italy's attitude by high court officials. None of these stories is confirmed by the foreign office.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Woman Suffering From Melancholia Tries to End Her Life.

Manassas, Va., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Minnie Whedbee, wife of Thomas Whedbee, of Manassas, shot herself just below the heart Sunday morning at her home near town. She had been suffering from melancholia.

She had gone as usual about the tasks of her country home that morning. Her husband went to attend to the stock at the barn nearby. Her nineteen-year-old daughter began to clear the breakfast table. She went to the second floor to straighten up the bedrooms.

Her husband heard the report of a gun and rushed to the house and found his wife in bed, with a bullet wound near her heart.

Dr. R. F. Iden was immediately summoned and she was taken to the university hospital at Charlottesville on the noon train. Her condition is serious.

Mrs. Whedbee was a daughter of R. W. Merchant, of Richmond, formerly of Manassas, and is widely related in this county.

DROPS BOMB ON KIAO-CHAU.

Japanese Aeroplane Returns Safely After Attack on Barracks.

Tokio, Sept. 17.—It is officially announced that a Japanese aeroplane dropped bombs on the barracks of the Germans at Tsing-Tau and that the machine returned safely to its headquarters.

The destroyer flotilla operating from Loashan Bay, near Tsing-Tau, drove in the enemy's patrols. Tokio, Sept. 17.—The railway station at Kaio-Chau, five miles from the bay of that name and opposite Tsing-Tau, the German fortified port, was occupied on September 13 by Japanese scouts according to an official announcement.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The Japanese Embassy was informed yesterday by the State Department, which inquired about 50 Japanese supposed to have been in Germany at the outbreak of the war that 12 of those named are not now in Germany.

Among them was Tamaki Miura, greatest of the Japanese opera singers, a member of the Imperial Theater Company at Tokio.

SAW RETREAT OF NAPOLEON.

Invader Now Again Threatens Home of German Woman 120 Years Old.

It is believed that the only human being living who saw the retreat of Napoleon from Moscow, 102 years ago, is "Mother" Stavne, who has now reached the age of 120 years.

Her age, incredible as it seems, is well attested. According to an entry in the church register of the village in which she was born, Dormovo, a small German town, the date was October 16, 1794.

She remembers the time when the French soldiers of Napoleon came back from Russia in their tattered blue-and-red uniforms. Together with her parents she fled to the forests to hide on the approach of the French conqueror.

"Mother" Stavne is still engaged in agricultural work. The region in which she lives is once again, after the lapse of more than a century, being threatened by an invading army. (London correspondence of the N. Y. Times.)

BEATEN WITH NAILS IN BOARD

Critically Injured Man Tells Queer Tale And an Arrest Follows.

Fernwood, Pa. Sept. 17.—Dominick Larrano, of Philadelphia, was sent to the county jail yesterday in default of $3000 bail by Magistrate Edward Malin, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Frank Partello, of Chester. Both men were employed as watchmen on a building operation on the West Chester pike in Upper Darby township.

Early yesterday morning Officers Wogoman, Block and Mooney heard pistol shots, went to the building operation and found Partello, who told the officers that he was beaten by Larrano with a board filled with nails. One of his eyes was knocked out, one cheek ripped open and his left lung punctured. Larrano said that robbers had attacked Partello and that he had fired the shots to drive them away.

MANY GERMANS LEAVE BELGIUM

Kaiser Rushing Forces Into France in Enormous Numbers.

REPLACING TROOPS

Should Kaiser's Army be Routed by French, He Will Face Revolution in His Own Country.

Antwerp, Sept. 17.—The Germans are withdrawing their main forces and sending them into France in enormous numbers.

But there are no signs that they contemplate the general evacuation of Belgium, as those withdrawn are immediately replaced by troops of the second line, and from the naval reserve.

Bordeaux, Sept. 17.—That the French are again winning a decisive victory all along the line in the third great battle of the war was the declaration of Minister of War Millerand.

As he pointed out, the first battle, that of the Sambre and the Meuse, went against the allies, who could not withstand the complete strength of the German war machine and were compelled to retire.

But a different tale was recorded at the battle of the Marne where the Germans were not only defeated, but in parts of their line were routed.

Now comes the third conflict. It has been in progress since Monday and has been named the battle of the Aisne. Up to the present the French have had the advantage. This battle, like the battle of Marne, is being fought in the open country. But conditions are reversed. In the battle of the Marne the French held the entrenched positions. The Germans could not drive them out of them. In the battle of the Aisne, however, reports received here indicate that the Germans are being forced back all along the line toward the Meuse.

There is no attempt to minimize the strength of the Germans or to believe that the war is now going to constitute a series of successes for the allies. Here in Bordeaux, it is realized that high officials of Germany know that if the German army, which always has been looked on by the German people with awe, is routed by the French, the Kaiser will face a revolution at home where the Socialists are supporting the war only because they firmly believe Germany was forced into it.

Chief of Police Murdered.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 17.—Chief of Police George Campbell, of Johnson City, for twenty years at the head of the police force there, was shot down by a negro desperado, near the business center yesterday. The negro, who had just come to Johnson City, was drunk and causing trouble in his home. His wife asked Chief Campbell to quiet him. When the chief appeared at the front door, the negro shot him through the head with a Winchester rifle. Rushing through the door, with gun in hand, the negro pressed a white drayman into service under threat of death. The drayman carried the negro to the nearest woodland before news of the killing spread. The local company of militia and the volunteer firemen were called out, and soon had the negro surrounded. Compelled to surrender, he was hurried to Johnsonboro to avoid a lynching.

REVELL S. GREENAWAY,

Board of Police Commissioners Hold Meeting Last Night and Discuss Matter.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners was held in the Mayor's office in the City Hall last night. Mayor Fisher presided and (Lombard) Fisher, Knight and Schwarzmann were present.

The business transacted was, in the main, of a general nature, and most of the session was consumed in an interchange of opinion concerning the sanitary conditions of streets and alleys of the city.

It was announced that the members of the police force had recently made two inspections of the city, during which they had invaded yards, but that their work had been confined to delivering orders or making suggestions concerning nuisances and unsightly accumulations.

In many instances, it was alleged, conditions remained practically as they were before the police made their rounds, and it was declared that the health department should act by procuring warrants against all persons maintaining nuisances upon their premises or in any way adding to unsanitary conditions in streets or alleys.

It was finally determined to place the situation before the committee on health of the City Councils soon as that committee shall have organized.

Chief Goods reported that 101 arrests had been made in the past month, and said that his men had just started another crusade against unlicensed dogs.

The annual state inspection of the Alexandria Light Infantry, officially known as Company G, First Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, will be held on next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Light Infantry Armory on Royal street. The inspection will be open to the public, and it is expected will be attended by a large number of the relatives and friends of the soldiers.

The inspection will be conducted by Colonel Joe Lane Stern, of Richmond, who has been designated for this duty. Before coming to Alexandria, Colonel Lane will inspect several other companies in Northern Virginia.

Captain Frank L. Slaymaker will hold a preliminary inspection of the company on next Monday night, when his men will be coached for the annual inspection to follow.

FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Small Frame House on Franklin Street Partially Destroyed.

About one o'clock this morning a small frame house, unoccupied, but containing furniture, on the south side of Franklin street, near Fairfax, was found to be burning. The department was soon at work, but the structure was considerably damaged before the flames were subdued. The house belongs to Edith Johnson, colored.

SIGNIFICANT PAPERS.

Report That German General Attempted to Commit Suicide.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Announcement is made that significant papers were found in the possession of the German General Friese, who was made a prisoner and brought to Paris on September 14. One was a letter, it is stated, inflicting punishment for not replying immediately to the mobilization order and was dated July 10.

Another paper was a dispatch addressed to General Von Kluck during the retreat, advising him that General Friese's troops had no more ammunition and that if he did not receive some at once he would be lost.

The report persists that General Friese attempted to commit suicide before he was made a prisoner.

WOUNDED IN BAD SHAPE.

Mortality Among Injured Germans Greater Than Those of English.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Out of 789 wounded Germans who arrived at La Rochelle Tuesday, 151 were in such a grave state that they could not be transferred from the station to the hospital, and several died during the day.

The mortality generally among the German wounded is higher than that of the French. Of 7,000 French wounded in the hospitals at Vichy, since the war began, over 2,300 have been cured and have returned to the front, while many more are up and convalescing leave. Most of the French wounded are suffering from bullet wounds, while most of the German wounded have shell and bayonet wounds.

REFUSE TO JOIN LEAGUE.

Virginia Pharmacists Decline to Take Part in Campaign to Make the State Dry

Richmond, Sept. 17.—The Virginia Pharmaceutical Association yesterday declined to connect itself with the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, in its efforts to amend state laws, regarding the handling of liquor by druggists in case the state goes dry.

E. B. Keyser, of Roanoke, a former member of the Legislature said in an address to the association that "if there is one place under the sun in which alcohol and whiskey should be sold, should the state go dry, it was the licensed retail drug store. 'As long as the medical profession prescribes alcohol or whiskey for the alleviation of diseases,' he said, 'then the law should certainly designate the licensed pharmacist as a proper man to sell them.' He said that four years ago he presented such a bill in the Legislature and that both he and Rev. James Cannon, Jr. thought it would be a safe bill for the sale of ardent spirits. Such a bill, he continued, should require the court in whose jurisdiction the pharmacy was located to furnish the pharmacist a list of all practicing physicians, dentists and veterinary surgeons, and that the prescription should contain the name of the patient, the date of its issuance, the amount of alcohol prescribed and the purpose for which it was to be used; that the prescription should be numbered serially and filed separately, the files always to be open to the public, and that at stated periods the pharmacist should make a sworn statement as to the amount of ardent spirits sold by him.

Exceptions were taken by several other members of the convention, who thought that no ardent spirits of any kind whatever should be sold in drug stores. One member went so far as to say that if the State went dry, two-thirds of the drug stores would be turned into barrooms and that liquor would continue to be sold as much as ever. This brought the retort that the majority of the druggists in Virginia are honest, and that they would not knowingly violate the law.

RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH.

Young Man Who Was With Girl in Automobile Held

Richmond, Sept. 17.—As the result of the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury, which was investigating the causes of the death of Pauline Thorpe, who died Monday night in the Virginia Hospital without regaining consciousness since Thursday night when she was injured in an automobile accident, near Belvidere, and Grace streets, Leo Kidd, a young man with a police record, with whom she was riding, is under arrest on the third warrant sworn out against him since the smash-up occurred, charging him with involuntary manslaughter.

Witnesses testified that Kidd, unmindful of the probable fatal injuries which the girl had received, did not mention the fact that she was injured, but instead placed her unconscious body in a dark spot in a front yard at 612 West Grace street, to be discovered about twenty minutes afterwards by passing pedestrians who heard the girl moaning in agony, and upon investigation found her a crumpled bleeding mass with clothes spattered with blood.

Following the death of Miss Thorpe Monday night, Coroner Taylor ordered an inquest held. The coroner's jury convened yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and after occupying about three hours in hearing several witnesses, the jury rendered the verdict, that "Miss Pauline Thorpe, died from injuries resulting from the reckless driving of an automobile by Leo Kidd, on the night of the 10th day of September, 1914."

Leo Kidd, who arrived at the hearing several minutes after it had begun, took a seat beside his attorney, L. O. Wendenburg. He was arrested as he stepped from the room after the verdict had been rendered, on charge of "involuntary manslaughter." He was taken to the Second police station where he was later put under an additional bond of $1,000 for a hearing September 26, the same date to which the other two cases had been postponed.

SENT ON TO JURY.

Victim of Carbolic Acid in Court Swathed in Many Bandages.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 17.—Mrs. W. D. Ballentine was yesterday afternoon sent on to the Corporation Court by Justice Pitt in Police Court on the charge of feloniously wounding Mrs. Fanny Brown by throwing carbolic acid on her. The affair occurred Tuesday at 12.30 at the corner of Queen and St. Paul streets when Mrs. Ballentine discovered Mrs. Brown and Mr. Ballentine together. Ballentine also received some of the acid but is not badly hurt.

Mrs. Brown was brought to police court in an automobile yesterday morning, but was unrecognizable on account of the many bandages around her head and face. Only her eyes and mouth were visible.

Justice Pitt sent the case on to the Corporation Court and accepted F. C. Hurst, at whose store Mrs. Ballentine is employed, as surety for her in the sum of $500.

TRAIN SMASHES AUTO

Newport News, Va., Sept. 17.—Samuel W. Lawson, a restaurant keeper, of Hampton, Va., was instantly killed, and William H. Mills, a distiller, also of Hampton, was seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck and demolished at a railroad crossing yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred about seven miles from this city. Lawson, who was driving the machine, evidently misjudged the speed of the train, which was running late, and tried to cross in front of it. He was hurled about 50 feet. Mills suffered serious injuries about the head, face and body.

HOME RULE
IS DELAYED.

With the announcement of Premier Asquith of the intention of the government to introduce a bill postponing the operation of the home rule that had threatened to plunge England into a civil war has been definitely disposed of for that time at least.

It is more than a question as to whether, after the war in Europe
has been closed, should the Allies be victorious, the Irish Nationalists would longer feel it to be of highest importance for Ireland to have home rule. The general pride in the empire would be such as to take the edge off the desire for autonomy.

In any case the aspiration for home rule will not be such as to range Ireland again into armed camps. For the people of the green isle have vied with each other in the display of the patriotic feeling that has been manifested in every part of the British Empire. They would not be apt to fly at one another's throats over the advantages or otherwise of the Home-rule Bill.

So that the war in Europe will probably cause the cementing of the ties of the empire. This will mean that the Canadians who fight and bleed for the empire will be little disposed to nuture even distant dreams of annexation with the United States. Great Britain will be homogeneous as it has never been before.

BUYING BALES OF COTTON.

The Baltimore Sun says:
"One of the good things that have come out of the evil of this war is the earnest and enthusiastic spirit which the business situation in the South has aroused in Baltimore. It is to our interest to help the people of that section over this rough place in the road. Our business people are taking hold of the "buy-a-bale" of cotton proposition in a way that shows that their sympathies, as well as their interests, are engaged, and they are putting their heads into the response as well as their hearts."

Other cities in the north and west are about to take similar action, and thus relieving the burdens imposed upon our southern country by the present unfortunate conditions. In Europe, which have so long been the market for this main product of Dixie.

Cotton was said to be king when hostilities between the north and south broke out in 1861, and it was supposed by the south that the powers of the old world would demand the opening of the southern ports, in order that cotton could be obtained and the factories of Europe kept moving. Under present conditions cotton is by no means king, and the south is finding difficulty in moving

it.

Cannot Alexandria buy a few bales
to help her friends south of Mason
and Dixon's line?

CASES OF PYROMANIA

A few nights ago the old structure used from 1877 until 1904 by the Washington Southern Railway Company as a ticket and freight office on the northeast corner of Cameron and Payette streets, was found to be burning. The flames were extinguished before any serious damage resulted. The building had evidently been set afire.

About one o'clock this morning an unoccupied house on the south side of Franklin street, near Fairfax, was partly consumed by fire. This, too was of incendiary origin.

Pyromania has existed sporadically in Alexandria during the past three score years. In the early fifties fires were of such frequent occurrence that watchmen were employed to patrol the city from dark until ten o'clock, when the twelve regular watchmen with a captain took charge.

In the early nineties the many fires
caused the Mayor to issue a proclamation offering one hundred dollars reward for the apprehension and conviction of incendiaries.

The city is gradually getting rid of the typhoid fever epidemic. It is hoped that steps will be taken to nip pyromania in the bud.

HUNTED MAN A SUICIDE.

Slayer of Two Men Fights With 600
Pursuers Until His Hay Field
Refuge is Set Afire.

Harvard, Neb. Sept. 17.—After shooting and instantly killing Henry Trout, a grain buyer, and Sheriff Charles Anderson and fatally wounding Deputy George Philips, an unknown robber and murderer committed suicide yesterday by putting a bullet through his own head in the presence of a posse which had him surrounded on all sides in a hay field. The dead man has not been identified.
Trout went to his office at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and half an hour afterward his body was found lying on the office floor with two bullet holes through the heart. A search at once was started and when Sheriff Anderson and his deputy overtook a tramp on the road the fellow stepped back and started shooting. Anderson was instantly killed and Deputy Philips fatally wounded. Officers requisitioned every automobile in town and threw a cordon around the section in which the tramp took refuge. The Fairfield company of militia was called out and 600 men took part in the man hunt.
The tramp took refuge in the hay field and his firing from behind hay kept the posse at bay.
The hay finally was set on fire and the blaze swept across the field like a huge wave. Whenever the tramp appeared he was fired on with rifles, shotguns and pistols and he returned the shots with an automatic. With the flames almost upon him he suddenly rose to his feet, played his gun against his head and fired, blowing out his brains. The body dropped into the flames and was badly burned.

PLAN FOOD FOR LONG WAR

Canadian Government Urges Doubling Wheat Crop Next Year.

Ottawa, Ont. Sept. 17.—As a war measure the Canadian Government will endeavor to have the wheat acreage doubled next year. A conference has been held between the Dominion Minister of Agriculture and experts in wheat acreage of Canada for the coming crop.

Through agricultural papers and lecturers, farmers will be advised that it will be good business and good patriotism to seed every acre
at their disposal to wheat. Efforts will be made to have new land plowed for barley and oats, that the cultivated areas may be seeded to wheat alone.

The British Government has asked the Dominion to co-operate in the work of increasing production, so that the food shortage in Europe resulting from the employment in war may be met. Later, it is likely the Canadian Government may give aid toward plowing and planting and where necessary, may advance seed to those who require it.

The Canadian wheat crop of this year is already being largely exported to England.

Eppa Hunton Urges Virginia to Defeat State- Wide Prohibition

Distinguished Richmond Lawyer Issues Statement Expressing His Conviction That Prohibitory Enactment Would Directly Increase Tax Burden and Breed Contempt for Law Enforcement.

CITIES FAILURE OF LAW IN SO-CALLED "DRY" CITIES.

Expressing the conviction that State-wide prohibition would directly increase the already heavy tax burden, and that its enactment would be followed by wide-spread violations of the law in many sections of the State, Eppa Hunton, Jr., one of the foremost members of the Richmond bar and a lawyer known the length and breadth of the State, has issued a statement warning Virginia against the adoption of the law.

Mr. Hunton reviews the issue carefully and with the restraint of the judicial mind accustomed to look at both sides of every problem. He comes to the conclusion that State-wide prohibition would in no way lessen the sum total of intemperance in the State, and that an attempt to impose it upon communities where Local Option is preferred, would bring the administration of law into disrepute and contempt.

The statement of Mr. Hunton follows in full:

"Between Local Option and State-wide prohibition I am thoroughly convinced it is the best for the State of Virginia, from every viewpoint, to continue Local Option and to defeat Prohibition.

"In reaching this conclusion, I have first considered the moral question. An investigation will convince any fair-minded and impartial man that State-wide prohibition not only will not stop, but will not decrease the consumption of alcoholic beverages in the State. The statistics are easily available, and will be found in the very able address of Hon. Royal E. Cabell, delivered in Richmond on May 14, 1914. While some of the figures given by Mr. Cabell have been questioned, I am informed that those obtained from the records in Washington have been checked by the Internal Revenue Department and pronounced correct, and the other figures have been examined and verified by others.

"Personal knowledge of the conditions in some of the States in which prohibition obtains strongly confirms these statistics. Contradictory as are the statements as to the effect of prohibition by the enthusiasts for and against it, I am convinced that any advocate of prohibition who will make a fair and impartial investigation in any state in which prohibition obtains will at least doubt its success.

"An investigation will demonstrate to any fair-minded man that in the prohibition states there is no decrease in crime, criminal expenses, divorce or insanity. Respect for the courts and the strict and impartial enforcement of the law is the aspiration of every free man and liberty loving people.

Failures in Other States

"The failure to enforce the laws against the sale of liquor in the prohibition States and their open and flagrant violation, is notorious and brings the courts and the law into contempt. The illegal traffic is carried on and those who deal with them in their illegal traffic are demoralized and debauched, and in many instances commit perjury in order to prevent a conviction of those in whose crime they have participated.

It tends very strongly to make a people of law-breakers, hypocrites and perjurers.

"During this campaign, in many pulpits, there have been political harangues which have no place in a house of worship.

"I am convinced that prohibition not only does not stop nor diminish the consumption of alcoholic beverages, nor elevate the moral tone of a people, but it is in many ways injurious and accomplishes the reverse of what is desired by its honest advocates.

Violates Self-Government

"Having reached this conclusion upon the moral question, I feel entirely free to deal with prohibition from other viewpoints. State-wide prohibition is a violation of the fundamental principle of Local Self-Government, and is unfair and unjust to those portions of the State which are opposed to this sumptuary legislation. No law can be enforced which is not supported by public opinion, and if Virginia should adopt State-wide prohibition, in many parts of the State we will have similar conditions to those existing in Atlanta, Savannah, and many other places."

It cannot be denied by the advocates of State-wide prohibition that its adoption will diminish the revenues of the State. The last report of the Auditor shows that Virginia collected from liquor licenses for the year ending September 30, 1913, the sum of $532,000.00. It is claimed by the advocates of Local Option that the taxes derived from other sources connected with the traffic will increase the revenues of the State from that source to about three quarters of a million dollars.

"It is claimed by some of the advocates of State-wide prohibition that the steadily increasing value of the real estate and personal property in Virginia will make up the lost revenue. This may be true (although I do not believe it), but these gentlemen lose sight of the fact that the expenses of the State are increasing at least as rapidly as its income, and that at the very last session of the General Assembly it was necessary for the Governor to let it be understood that he would veto any appropriation bill exceeding a certain sum, in order to keep the expenditures of the State within its income, and thereby prevent a deficit.

Affects State Institutions

"The people of Virginia, whether we have Local Option or State-wide prohibition, will not consent to have the efficiency of its asylums, University, Colleges, and Schools impaired by reducing the amounts which they receive from the State. They will not consent to have the pensions of its Confederate Veterans reduced. They will not consent to have the appropriations for good roads reduced, but demand that they shall be increased.

"It is inevitable that if State-wide prohibition prevails in Virginia, that the revenue thereby lost to the State must and will be made up by the increased taxes. This is as certain as that night follows day. It may be done either by increasing the rate of taxation or by increasing the assessments, but the result to the tax-payer will be the same."

"Upon whom will these additional tax burdens rest most heavily? It is well known that property in the city, and especially bonds, stocks, and money, is assessed much higher than property in the counties. It seems reasonable, therefore, to expect that the revenue of the State, to take the place of that lost by prohibition, while it may rest upon all the people of the State, will rest most heavily and possibly altogether upon the real estate and the people in the counties.

"I can easily understand how some one who has seen some young life wrecked or snuffed out by liquor, some home desolated by it, will advocate State-wide prohibition as a drowning man will catch at a straw, but the question to be determined by the people of Virginia at the election on September 22nd is whether State-wide prohibition will stop or materially diminish the evils of liquor.

"The tendency of the age is to endeavor to correct all of the evils of life by legislation, instead of striving to build up the influences of the home and thereby strengthen and develop the character of the individual.

Local Option Works Well

"If State-wide prohibition accomplishes a small part of those things which are claimed for it by its advocates, why is it that only nine States now have State-wide prohibition? Why is it that eleven of the States which have tried State-wide prohibition have pronounced the experiment a failure, and have repealed the prohibition law? Local Option has worked very satisfactorily in Virginia, and there are no saloons in a large portion of the State. In these sections public sentiment has closed them and will see that the law enforced at least to a certain extent, and that those who flagrantly violate it are prosecuted, and where the evidence is sufficient are convicted."

"If by State-wide prohibition the saloons are forced to close in the residue of the State, where public sentiment does not approve it, the illegal traffic will continue, and the administration of the law will be brought into disrepute and contempt.

"My earnest conviction that State-wide prohibition will be a calamity to my State and my people is my one excuse for this expression of views upon this question, so soon to be determined by the sovereign will of the electors of Virginia."

President of Virginia Farmers' Institute and Distinguished Agricultural Leader Describes Baneful Effect of State-wide Prohibition in Rural Districts of Maine.

Warns Virginia Against Adoption of Prohibition Law

"I am persuaded that the cause of temperance will best be subserved by a perfected local option law administered in accordance with our Democratic doctrine of local self-government."

This is the conclusion reached by Westmoreland Davis, of Leesburg, president of the Virginia State Farmers' Institute, after a first hand study of State-wide Prohibition as it affects the rural districts of Maine.

The farmers of Virginia have no better friend than Mr. Davis. For years he has waged their battle before the Virginia Legislature. During the session of 1912 he was instrumental in securing the passage of the Lime Grinding Act, under which the State will shortly supply the farmers of the State with ground limestone for fertilizing purposes at a nominal cost.

It was Mr. Davis who developed in large part the farm demonstration system which has been carried forward to a high state of efficiency. Year after year the Farmers' Institute has re-elected him to fill the highest office in its gift. In Mr. Davis the agricultural world recognizes at once a leader of fine discrimination and a man abreast of the best thought of the day.

WARNS AGAINST PROHIBITION.

Below is reproduced a letter written by Mr. Davis to Judge George L. Christian, of Richmond. In it he describes a recent trip to Maine for the purpose of investigating a purely agricultural matter and his incidental contact with the so-called prohibition system in force in that State. The shortcomings of State-wide Prohibition cause him to sound a note of warning against the enactment of a similar law in Virginia.

It is characteristic of Mr. Davis that he divested himself of the habits of office before making public his views on the State-wide issue. In order to appear before the people of Virginia untrammelled by alliance and in his own free right as a citizen of this State he resigned the presidency of the Farmers' Institute. His action in this respect is in striking contrast to that of the president of another Farmers' organization in the State, who is using the lever of his high office to give weight to opposite views.

The letter from Mr. Davis to Judge Christian, which is self-explanatory, follows below:

MR. DAVIS'S LETTER.

Hon. George L. Christian, Leesburg, Va., Sept. 10, 1914.
Richmond, Va.

My Dear Sir:

I am deeply interested in the development of Virginia—her social and industrial upbuilding. I recognize that temperance as a rule of life is a condition precedent to that development. The question that confronts the people of Virginia is how temperance among our people may best be secured; and the problem, in my humble opinion, should be solved not by political reprimand, but in a spirit of mutual confidence and helpfulness.

It has been my custom when addressing myself to subjects which affect the public welfare to study the practical effect of the law or system investigated in its actual operation. I went to Illinois that I might determine the benefits derived by the farmers of that State from the Convict Lime Grinding plant there, and the sale of the product to their farmers. In Wisconsin I appreciated the work done by its great University at Madison in bringing to bear upon the practical problems of the farmers the highest scientific effort, and learned there the great value of the Legislative Reference Bureau to the people of that State. From these personal investigations I have been able to contribute in a measure to the enactment of similar laws in our State, which will revound to the benefit of our citizens.

I have just returned from the State of Maine, whither I journeyed to learn of the methods through which in a comparatively few years a vast agricultural industry has been developed in the growing of potatoes. This industry is assuming large proportions in some of our tidewater counties. While in Maine, in my travels, I had the opportunity of acquainting myself with the practical administration of the law which inhibits the sale of liquor in that State, and is commonly known as Prohibition. I have always been and now am an earnest advocate of temperance, total abstinence, and with some diffidence, but without fear of contradiction I may say that I practice what I preach; in this respect at least.

I found in Maine a State divided against itself and Prohibition a party asset. I found that though prohibitory in form, that in fact the law against the sale of liquor was enforced only in those localities where it was demanded by local public opinion, and that, where such sentiment did not exist liquor is sold in open defiance of the law; and that Prohibition in Maine has no advantage in its administration over local option, and fails to aid in its higher sense the great cause of temperance.

Virginia is just entering upon a period of industrial development. Her best minds should be directed along the lines of creative endeavor, and her progress should not be paralyzed through the bitterness engendered by the perpetuation in politics of a moral question, which can best be solved through those potent agencies—the church, the home, and the school, with their beneficent influence. I shall therefore vote for local option.

I am writing this with reluctance, and at some personal sacrifice—reluctance, because I am loath to differ upon a public matter with men in whose sincerity of purpose I have great faith; men who are undoubtedly right in their support of temperance as a cardinal civic virtue, but whose judgement as to the method by which that condition is to be attained has been warped in their enthusiasm for the cause. Personal sacrifice, because I have felt it incumbent upon me, before making this statement, to resign the presidency of the Virginia State Farmers' Institute; for that organization must at all hazards be protected from political controversial matters.

I am persuaded that the cause of temperance will best be subserved by a perfected local option law administered in accordance with our democratic doctrine of local self-government.

Assuring you of my high esteem and consideration, I remain,
Very truly,
(Signed) WESTMORELAND DAVIS

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO.

People Terror-Stricken by Order for Removal of U. S. Troops.

London, Sept. 17.—Information has reached London that Sir Lionel Carden the British Minister to Mexico, who is now on sick leave,
was virtually compelled to leave the country. It is not known what the British government has done about it, but there is no question that when the war was over Carden was made a settlement with the British government is already thoroughly out of sympathy with the constitutionalists on account of the Bentley case, and Carden's enforced departure adds to England's account. If Carden's report sustains the preliminary information showing he was practically forced to depart, it will not be surprising if England severs relations with Carden's government.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 17.—American, Spanish and Mexican residents of Vera Cruz are terror-stricken over the order for American troops to leave. They see only death and confiscation of property ahead. Most of the Mexicans are too poor to leave, and many have incurred the enmity of Carranza by serving Americans. About 400 Catholic priests and nuns, who took refuge
in Vera Cruz, fear death or worse, but have no means of leaving the country.

New York, Sept. 17.—Sir Lionel Carden one-time British Minister to Mexico and recently appointed Minister to Brazil, sailing yesterday on the Celtic for Liverpool,
is quoted by the New York City News Association as having made the following statement concerning the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz.

"It is a desperate shame that the United States has seen fit to abandon the decent people of Mexico when they most need help.
I do not know the reason for this,
but it would seem that President Wilson has been misinformed in some matters, and that if another side of the situation has been brought to his attention he has not seen fit to listen to anything that contradicts those who have told him that the country has been pacified."

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health. If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.
